ABSTRACT

This directory contains a listing of 610 formal education programs in early childhood education and childhood development in 49 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The directory is limited to the following types of institutions that provide postsecondary education in the early childhood and child development area: two- and four-year colleges, technical institutes, and occupationally oriented vocational schools. Each entry contains the following information: (1) institution name, address, and telephone number; (2) contact person; (3) type of institution; (4) specialty area or areas; and (5) an indication of whether the institution offers the Child Development Associate (CDA) program. The appendix contains a listing of the institutions which have indicated interest in offering seminar instruction during Phase II of the CDA Professional Preparation Program. (SM)

THE COUNCIL for Early Childhood Professional Recognition was founded in 1985 through the efforts of the National Association for the Education of Young Children. The Council administers the Child Development Associate credentialing program, providing uniform procedures for assessing the competence of early childhood caregivers. The Council works to improve the professional status of early childhood workers and is helping to meet the growing need for qualified child care staff with the creation of the CDA Professional Preparation Program (CDA P_3).

CDA Professional Preparation Program (CDA P_3) Institutions

Introduction

This National Directory of Early Childhood Education Institutions contains a listing of 610 formal education programs in early childhood/childhood development in 49 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Approximately 1,429 institutions, compiled from Peterson's Guide to Postsecondary Institutions, Volumes I and II comprised the initial mailing sent in September 1992. We prompted additional responses through a second mailing in October 1992.

Through the process of elimination, and based upon information received from a similar survey distributed by Wheelock College in the Spring of 1992, we deleted nearly 118 postsecondary education institutions from the first mailing. The 118 institutions we eliminated were respondents to Wheelock's survey that indicated they had no early childhood education programs. In addition, from the 633 respondents to the Council's survey, we did not list 23 education institutions who were kind enough to respond, but who do not offer early childhood courses. Updated versions of this directory in the years to come may provide us with additional data, and hopefully more institutions electing to offer these courses.

Early childhood education coursework is conducted by a variety of types of institutions, including many child care centers; however, this Directory is limited to those institutions providing postsecondary education in the early childhood/child development area. Included in this Directory are universities, two-and four-year colleges, technical institutes and occupationally-oriented vocational schools. Within intitutions, programs are located in a variety of departments such as Child Care, Child and Family Studies, Child Development, Child Psychology, Curriculum and Instruction, Early Childhood Education, Education, Home Economics, Human Development, Special Education, and so on. Early childhood education spans birth through third grade, although not all programs covered the entire range.

This Directory is organized alphabetically by location. Within each location, cities are listed in alphabetical order. Each listing includes the following information: Name (column one), address and telephone number(s) of the institution (column two), type of institution (e.g., public/private, 2- or 4-year college/university)and name of contact person (column three), the early childhood specialty area(s) (i.e., does the institution provide coursework for individuals who wish to work with infants and toddlers, preschoolers, or school-age children?) (column four), whether or not the institution offers CDA training (column five).

All programs indicated they offered some form of financial assistance. Federal law mandates financial assistance must be offered to students who take a minimum of six (6) hours of coursework.

A brief analysis of the 610 respondents to the September/October 1992 survey follows:

Type and number of institutions responding		Percentage of total
Public 2-year colleges	312	51.1%
Private 2-year colleges	19	3.1%
State colleges	19	3.1%
Private 4-year colleges	51	8.3%
Public universities	134	21.9%
Private universities	70	11.47%
Specialty areas
Infant/toddler courses	488	80.0%
Preschool courses	586	96.1%
School-age courses (Elementary Education)	490	80.3%
Degrees offered
4-year ECE or Child Development	234	38.4%
2-year or Associate Degree	345	56.6%
1-year Certificate	264	43.3%
Institutions with CDA Training	243	39.8%

CDA Candidates please note: Institutions that offer a CDA training program develop their program independent of the Council's participation or endorsement. Students are responsible for ensuring that whatever training they pursue meets the education requirements stated in the Child Development Associate Assessment System and Competency Standards book.

APPENDIX

CDA PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION PROGRAM
COOPERATING INSTITUTIONS

Below is a listing of the institutions that have indicated interest, through a letter of intent, to offer seminar instruction during Phase II of the CDA Professional Preparation Program (CDA P_3). Some of these institutions may be duplicated in the main part of this Directory. Others--who did not respond to the Council's survey--may not have been included.

You may obtain telephone numbers for the institutions listed below by calling the Council on our toll-free number: 1-800-424-4310. Ask to speak with either Deborah Jordan or Yvette Humphrey.
